INTRODUCTION

Let what you learn on each day bring more height and value to your life if not every day would just remain the same. As far as you live something has to change, the economy [government and people] trends [lifestyle and fashion] there is no doubt about that and if you agree with me then I see no reason why you should be living the usual lifestyle again and again. Maybe If you look here and there add a bit of this and that or perhaps rattle with a little challenges more often than not you might find a ground lying fallow ready for the plow .

“For the past 33 years, I have looked in the mirror every morning and asked myself if today were the last day of my life, would I have to do what am about to do today? And whenever the answer has been no for too many days in a row, I know I need to change something” Steve jobs

He knew from the look in the mirror, the image that reflected back at him from constantly looking wasn't perfect and so certain about his findings he went to work on it; basically he looked at himself for 33years and decided to change what he does daily for the rest of his life.

If you are reading this right now you just might have come across yourself, something you needed then or now in order to change something in the future and so here is something you should start doing.

MAKE A DECISION TO CHANGE WHAT YOU DO DAILY FROM NOW ON

Change is the most illuminating force in nature, it consist of pretty much all the content of building up character associated with those of power to move in the direction of advantage over the circumstances surrounding you, having realized that progress was impossible without change and those that cannot change their mindset are incapable of re-creating themselves, I discovered the power to create and recreate made us special and change gave us that power.

My major concern about all of us in life is to know what needs to be done before we get to a good old age where there might be little energy left to venture with. Until we discover the real thing that change does to the mind, body and spirit, we cannot start thinking of something that could bring the effect that's as powerful as change.

THE MECHANICS OF BUILDING AN END PRODUCT

Is this the effect that is as powerful as change itself or there is something more?

In the mechanics of building an end product you will be challenged to start thinking deep about what you want to create after reading this report, be it a website to simply making handmade detergent for distribution at a local market, whichever you choose I strongly recommend that you do so with the knowledge that it doesn't stop there instead it goes all the way to creating a documented information about how you go about doing what you do. There is a lot of ways you can meet up with creating an end product and it doesn't have to be like an app or a computer program, all you need is just to have an idea and be practical about it.

Here in this report I am going to focus on the process and I will be discussing practical ways to go about creating something with the determination of making a useful contribution in a creative way.

Now let's get to work, let's say that you ordered for any of my report, even the one that you are reading now will do so just go ahead, examine the report, you will see that every report has been written in order to give the reader an idea though it is understandable that you only have an electronic copy of this report. Now what I want you to do is to stop reading and get a pen and paper and then copy the report on the paper you have, copy all of it and then again read through it like you actually wrote it. Design your own cover for the report you have written with your name on it make sure you do this to the finish and then take a good look at the end product what do you see?

Wait wow, all I can imagine is a report written by you but we both know that everything therein is stolen so to change that just so it becomes originally yours, here is what you should do, get your pen again and this time copy all the ideas, relevant points, to another piece of paper and then go and make research on all those ideas just so you can have a lot of ideas to add to your report so that it doesn't look exactly like my work, then finally come back to your paper and write what you have discovered in your own terms Make sure it's all put together in your own style and by that I mean how you would want the out look to appear when presented to another reader and then finally put back the cover with the design and your name intact , then examine the report again This will be great if you typed the report out though but just to have an idea of what we are doing here, consider envisioning this whole process out too while you are at it you would see that you have by way of a psychological shift conducted a research and by the some behavioral mechanics caused a dynamic effect on paper it is no longer what is was but what the effect you caused permits it to be.

NOTE; this is not an attempt to reinvent the wheel; everything is possible using the mechanics above.

What you have above is a complete new report you have created and it is in form of an end product. Have it in mind that the exercise above is all it takes to create a report but let's further look at what you have done in details below;

You have taken the first practical step towards achieving your dream of having an end product to your name.

You have positioned yourself to becoming great behind closed doors.

You have just created something by using a copy as model.

By adding new ideas to your copy you have totally added a new line of thought to existing information available

You have adapted and adjust creatively irrespective of a situation.

You have also created some change resulting from the research you conducted.

You have also created chances of generating personal wealth.

Confidently find out more in my report. What you must learn to be successful in life/

The thing is that people who make money do so because they have something that the public wants and not really because they want to make money, they have discovered through the mechanics of creating end product that you can sell people anything whether is a new invention or innovation so far as you have worked through creating it. Therefore the fact mentioned above indicates that what you have done while producing your report is typical of the process of creating anything, for business or pleasure or personal fulfillment all you need is the idea.

CONCLUSION

The above EXERCISE is short for how to use modification technics to create information packed content good enough to sell. You can change your priorities today in order to leverage your life by creating changes that result in an opportunity of building a billion dollar company or inventing new technology and innovation, improving things one way or the other these is all mechanics of creativity. Note that what is most important in the process is having the desire to create change first; wealth is just the byproduct of these primary activities.

There are other products you can go about creating using the above idea for instance pick a sachet of tomato and empty to sachet and then make your own sachet and fill and seal the sachet, I guess you know exactly what am getting at? Make research on how tomato paste is made and after you get all the details, go ahead and give it your own touch.

Just keep creating and writing stuff and you will just have the idea of creating something even bigger with your ability! You see, every great idea must first appear on paper no matter how good it is and that is the beginning of great things

After you have read and understood this report you should try and get my report titled. What you must learn to be successful in life. I have created this one report as an all-round tool that is vital to ending all of lives issues regarding success.
